

Why the world needs HONEYLINK

The Loneliness Epidemic

Only 58.5% of U.S. teens receive the social and emotional support they need (CDC)

Minutes of Social Interaction

Disconnection

In 2017, American adolescents and young adults spent about 22 fewer minutes per day on social interactions compared with young people in 2003. As time on social media increases, time for real-world connection disappears.

Building REAL Connections

HoneyLink encourages face-to-face interaction through its BuzzMap, where users can host or join real-world events. It's social networking that gets you off the screen and into the community!

A Healthier Social Media

No likes or followers, HoneyLink just uses a “Honey Pot” social battery to promote balance and mindful interaction.

Rebuilding Community

“Social connection must be integrated into all policies—from digital access to health, education, and employment.” (WHO)
